Environmental and climate impact perceptions in university students: Sustainability motivations and perceptions correspond with lower red meat intake

The objective of the study was to evaluate university students’ perceptions of climate-friendly behaviors and assess how they are associated with red meat intake.

The effects of isocaloric intermittent fasting vs. daily caloric restriction on weight loss and metabolic risk factors for non-communicable chronic diseases: A systematic review of randomized controlled or comparative trials

The aim of this study is to investigate the effects of isocaloric intermittent fasting versus daily caloric restriction on the metabolic risk factors for non-communicable chronic diseases.

The exploration of the eating experience in adults with Celiac Disease: A phenomenological qualitative study

The objective in this study is to explore the adjustment in experiences using the Social Cognitive Transition Model of Adjustment in adults recently diagnosed with Celiac Disease transitioning to a gluten-free diet.

New Research on the Retail Marketing of Sugar Sweetened Beverages

JAND Editor-in-Chief Linda Snetselaar, PhD, RDN, LD, FAND interviews Megan Winkler, PhD, RN, about recent research conducted by Dr. Winkler and colleagues on the marketing of sugar sweetened beverages in retail settings as well as working with clients that frequently purchase sugar sweetened beverages.

The Need for Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion in Nutrition Research

JAND Editor-in-Chief Linda Snetselaar, PhD, RDN, LD, FAND speaks with JAND editorial board member and researcher Carmen Byker Shanks, PhD, RDN about how and why diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) can and should be included nutrition research. Byker Shanks is a co-author of the article “The Need to Incorporate Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion: Reflections from a National Initiative Measuring Fruit and Vegetable Intake” in the July 2022 issue of JAND.

The Journal Online

The Journal of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics has undergone a mobile-friendly redesign! Academy members and Journal subscribers can get full-access articles from the convenience of a mobile device, anywhere in the world. The Journal website also includes an array of extras like podcasts, curated topic collections, downloadable slides, and more.

Access Content Online:
Articles Online First: www.jandonline.org/inpress
Podcasts: www.jandonline.org/content/podcast
Editor’s Podcasts: www.jandonline.org/content/editorspodcast
Educational Slides: www.jandonline.org/content/slides
Featured Topic Collection: www.jandonline.org/content/culturalcompetency